

Snappy Dresser

Snappy Dresser

A unique creation influenced by contemporary African art, this adventurous cocktail dress in sand-washed silk bears a hand-painted Nile crocodile.

A real attention-grabber, it almost guarantees an evening that won't end in tears!

Nasrin

Blooming Hot

Nasrin's chic collection and her precocious talent have attracted the attention of Ads Infitum Ltd., who have been delighted to sponsor the promotion of her work in the furtherance of a career which we feel will take off in a way which will be seen to have justified our support. Thanks are extended to top photographer Cliff Kent, whose generous gift of a free photo-shoot to aid Nasrin is likewise greatly appreciated as a demonstration of how mature professionals can encourage emerging talent.

www.ads-infitum.com

© copyright Nasrin Malaeki and Ads Infitum Ltd 2003

Blooming Hot

This light, bright and breezy Summer-dress in rose-coloured microfibre bears a striking sunflower in hand-painted silk. A wonderful creation which invites comment and promises its wearer that they'll never be a wall-flower!

eshvegar@hotmail.com
+44 (0) 7984 874 480

Nasrin

Nasrin Maleki was born in the oil-rich Persian city of Ahwaz, the vibrant capital of the fertile Iranian province of Khuzestan and a location which has not only been long renowned for the exotic quality of its textiles but which also equates to the fabled gardens of Elan.

Nasrin 2003 collection

With a successful career behind her already - as a hair-stylist who was owner of her own salon - Nasrin would be forgiven for resting on her laurels. But fashion and design have always enthralled her, and when she arrived in the UK in 2000 she decided that she would take that opportunity to re-train and follow her dream. Already a graduate in Iran, Nasrin enrolled at the North Glasgow College where she first had to learn English before she could even begin to train in her chosen career. That would be a challenge for anyone, let alone a mother with two young children! But it has all been worthwhile; she has thoroughly enjoyed herself and, as she says, learned a great deal from her talented and enthusiastic mentors.

Nasrin Maleki

The garments showcased here demonstrate a growing confidence which is matched by a host of design and dressmaking skills, an intuitive flair for adornment of the female form, and a clearly mature commercial acumen.

Halcyon Daze

Though no kingfisher is in evidence, this cheekily avant-garde crepe wool suit in dark green pays homage to Summer with a well-executed sunflower motif hand-painted into its lining. Balmy, yes. Barmy, no!

Summer 2003 collection

Zamb-Easy

Yet another vivacious ready-to-wear creation that owes much to central African influences, this silk top in an array of colours has flowing lines which are perfectly complemented by a sober sand-washed silk skirt in brown.

Flapper

An invitation to step out in style, this entertaining ensemble comprises an off-the-shoulder top in dark brown stretch Jersey with a velvet trim. Complementing it with conviction is a well-coordinated wrap-around polyester crepe skirt.

Trek

Ideal for balmy Summer evenings and inspired by Saharan robes, this off-the-shoulder ribbon-woven top in rich cream poly-cotton is sumptuously matched with a terracotta red wrap-over polyester drill skirt.

Trek