

DENTISTS:

Some dentists accept NHS patients, although this treatment is not always free. The easiest way to get information is to visit the website at www.patient.co.uk/showdoc/9/ which has links to many dental services. There are emergency clinics for unregistered patients. If you have been resident in the UK for more than 6 months, you are entitled to NHS dental care but you must find a dentist who will register you as a new NHS patient.

DENTAL TRAINING HOSPITALS:

There are several dental hospitals around the UK where students are being trained. Your treatment there will be free. Students are supervised by their lecturers, and the quality of care is therefore excellent.
